Steelcase's co-working office space, NEXT, is out of this world. The inventive futuristic design creates an inspiring atmosphere as well as a constant reminder to ambitious Nexters that there is no limit to what they can achieve. Sleek sustainable features consciously foster a healthy relationship between Nexters and nature. The office space extends to the outer Atlanta bioregion giving nature an active role in the workspace. Sprouting from biomimicry, NEXT fosters inventiveness. Members are provided with cutting edge technologies for their very own small business. The design atmosphere echoes the college learning environment which first ignited interdisciplinary innovation in the millennial generation. The perfect balance of comfort and the unknown fosters a sense of belief in members that they can be NEXT.
